

Stefana Burlacu is an entering senior at Woodbury High School at age 16, attended the RYLA Conference at Stockton College this summer, she is looking forward to a program emphasizing leadership and understanding in a most unusual program sponsored by the Rotary Clubs of District 7640. Stefana is looking toward attending St. Joseph's University and studying finance. Her background is unique in that she came from Rumania and is presently teaching her parents how to speak English. She likes individualism which she found at Stockton at the RYLA Program. She further advised that she developed more of an independent attitude as a result of the lectures in the programs which she attended. She is looking forward to college and further individualism as her education develops. She liked the speakers and particularly liked the international people that were present. She also likes "pink shoes". This is another example of an outstanding young lady soon to enter college and is almost certain to be a leader among women.

Jasmine Ehirim is an entering senior at Woodbury High School and looks to her future entering Penn State, first of all considering pediatric forensic science and later on narrowing that down to forensic science. Her family comes from Sierra Leone on the west coast of Africa. Jasmine has played most of the sports there is at Woodbury High School and usually excels in them. While she describes herself as shy, hardly speaking to people unless they spoke first, she feels also by attending the RYLA program and meeting the Rotary people she has gained an enormous amount of confidence. She particularly liked and participated in the RYLA Olympics and was most delighted that she attended. By the way Jasmine "colored socks".

Oluwatofunmi Oni many people call her Tofunmi. Tofunmi is an entering senior at Woodbury High School and attended the Rotary programs for RYLA and originally comes from Nigeria where she lived up to age 9 and then came to the United States. While she would like to have a trip back to her home, this apparently has not happened. Tofunmi is looking toward attending the University of Maryland in the field of biology and later in some other medical field beyond a Bachelor of Science. Tofunmi has 2 sisters and a brother, likes to meet people and she became much more confident as a result of the programs she attended, the lectures she listened to and the people she met. She came back with the statement that "it was a great motivating event in her life". She enjoyed the speakers, she particularly enjoyed the teams without adults trying to supervise or mess things up, but above all she thought "the food was great" at Stockton College.
